The "Ice King" in His Cell.

Charles W. Morse, former ice king and banker of New York, is now in the Federal prison at Atlanta. A press dispatch referring to Mr. Morse says: He is registered as convict No. 2814, and tonight occupies a steel cell not in the least different from those to which are assigned several hundred other prisoners. His immaculate tailored garments gave way to regulation suit of stripes, nor did the distinguished prisoner escape the Bertillon expert, the prison photographer, the regulation bath or the barber. Morse arrived from New York at 10:45 a. m., in charge of two deputy marshals, and accompanied by his friend and close business associate, W. P. Reid, of Boston. He made no protest when the cameras of the newspaper men were trained upon him. He was placed in a cab and driven to the prison. Because he had not been vaccinated, Morse was not permitted to eat in the big dining room with his fellow convicts, and his first meal was served in his cell. The prisoner turned over to the prison clerk $218 in currency. He was assigned to Class 1, which entitles him to privilege of seeing relatives for friends for thirty minutes in each two weeks of his confinement. Morse probably will be assigned to the tailor shop or be put to work on the constructing gang. Mrs. Morse, formerly the wife of an Atlanta hotel proprietor, is expected here from New York tomorrow. After a conference with her husband, she will return to New York and begin trying to secure a pardon from President Taft.

A New One.

A western Kentucky exchange says: "A young man traveling through the State is representing himself to be in the employ of the Government and inspecting rural routes. He represents to the farmers that if they want to have their routes continued it will be necessary for them to sign a petition to that effect, showing them a form he carries. Later this signature to the 'petition' bobs up in the shape of a small check at a local bank. Keep your eye peeled for him."

Handsome Rug.

The large rug for the State reception room in the new Capitol at Frankfort was received from Austria Tuesday and placed upon the handsome hardwood floor. The rug has a delicately tinted blue effect, and is of the softest texture. It is 16x24 feet in dimensions and cost the State $1,800. The rug is one of the very finest that can be woven by the skilled Austrian rug-makers and matches well the other handsome furnishings of the apartment.

"Coalition" Indeed!

Waiter Wellman, Washington correspondent for the Chicago Record-Herald, says that a coalition has been formed between the Taft administration and the regulars in congress for the purpose of whipping into line the Republican insurgents. If Mr. Wellman does not know that the Taft administration and the Aldrich and Cannon forces, which he calls the "regulars," are one and require no "coalition," he could learn something to his advantage by communicating with the average Illinois farmer.

Drastic Anti-Treating Law.

The Anti-Treating bill introduced in the House at Frankfort by Representative Zimmerman, of the Bullitt-Simpson district, has attracted widespread attention and much comment. The author says it is not to be confounded with any State wide or local option measure, but simply seeks to break up a custom that has become an intolerable nuisance and that the chief supporters of the proposed law are those who like to go in a saloon and take a drink and then depart about their business. The bill provides a fine of from $10 to $25 for violations and in addition a forfeiture of license for the saloon keeper permitting treating in his place of business. The full text of the bill is as follows:

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky: Section 1—That it shall be unlawful for any person to treat or give to another person any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, wines or beers or any other intoxicating drinks or beverages in any saloon, barroom or other place where intoxicating drinks are sold by retail, or in any room or building adjoining said saloon or barroom, or connected therewith, and any person who violates the provisions of this act, shall be fined not less than $10 or more than $25 for each offense, and any saloon keeper or other retail vendor of intoxicating drinks who sells intoxicants to one person to give to another person knowing same are to be drunk in said saloon or barroom or other room or building adjoining same or connected therewith, shall, in addition to the above penalty have his license forfeited by the authorities having legal authority to forfeit same. Sec. 2—All laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

"Most Considerate."

President Taft held a conference with six of the railroad presidents and then, announced a change of program in the sending of his message dealing with interstate commerce and anti-trust laws. An Associated Press dispatch from Washington said: "President Taft found the railroad men most considerate in presenting their views." It was very kind, indeed, for these gentlemen to be "most considerate" to the president of the United States.

"Satisfactory."

Associated Press dispatches say that the administration bill relating to the interstate commerce law will in the main be satisfactory to the railroads; also that the railroad interests will object to the measure up to the last ditch committee members say is to be expected. "Are we to understand that this objection is merely to make it appear that the measure has not been framed so that it will in the main be satisfactory to the railroads?"

Farmers Demanding New Laws.

The State Union of the American Society of Equity, in session at Frankfort, adopted strong resolutions requesting the present Legislature to enact appropriate legislation to compel the dipping of all sheep in the State, so that the disease of scabies may be eradicated. Another resolution asks for a law permitting farmers to use school buildings for meeting places for their organizations when the holding of school will not be interfered with. The report of secretary-treasurer, S. B. Rohartson, shows the society to be in a flourishing condition. During the year eighty-two local unions were organized and 4,453 new members enrolled, making a total membership at this time of 11,624 in good standing.

Cures Dyspepsia; Trial Is Free

It is a popular mistake that only wealthy people who eat rich and highly-spiced foods suffer from dyspepsia, or, as it is also known, indigestion. The laborer in the street, the worker in the field also finds himself a victim of this disorder. Among the very greatest sufferers from it are women.

Dyspepsia is indicated by a constant feeling of laziness, by loss of appetite and troubled sleep, by sour stomach and distress after eating, by bad complexion and lusterless eyes. There is no surer and speedier cure for this trouble than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which dyspeptics have been using successfully for twenty years. This great herb laxative compound cured Capt. Clark, of Buffalo, Ia., of dyspepsia and sour stomach that he had had for forty years, or until the lucky day that he heard of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It cured Joel Adams, of Montgomery, Ala., after suffering continuously for sixteen months. These are only a few of the many. But it is not expensive to be cured with this grand remedy, as it can be bought at any drug store in a 50-cent or $1 bottle.

Your very neighbors are probably life-long users of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, but if you want to know without expense what it will do for you personally, send your name to Dr. Caldwell and he will be glad to send you a free trial bottle. He is actually anxious to have you make a test of his remedy.

Thousands of families everywhere keep it in the house against such an emergency as constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, biliousness, dyspepsia, heartburn, torpid liver, etc., which may come on a member of the family any day. It is pleasant to the taste, acts gently and does not gripe. It is the great children's laxative tonic.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 509 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Notice the smile on your neighbor's face these chilly mornings. He burns

Try it once and you will want it always.
